

Martin Vongrej is an artist of gentle gestures. He teases our ability to perceive minute details, often residue of an accidental touch of the material, and to consider them to be of primary importance. Often philosophical, always minimalist and conceptual in its core, Vongrej's work requires acute visual concentration.

Charlotta Kotik